(57) ABSTRACT

An activity garment for use in darkness comprising: a shirt; a means for reflective visibility over at least one side of the shirt; a pair of pants, where the pair of pants are worn in conjunction with the shirt; and a means for reflective visibility extending over the length of each respective leg of the pair of pants. The means for reflective visibility over at least one side of the shirt may include a series of reflective strips, where the series of reflective strips include a grouping over a chest area of the shirt and a grouping over an abdominal area. The means for reflective visibility extending over the length of each respective leg of the pair of pants may include reflective strips along a first side of each pants leg.
